Recent Developments

Performance of the Fund for the first half of 2019 has been solid against a backdrop where Canadian and US stock markets advanced nicely, rebounding from a sharp correction in late 2018. The sub-advisor believes that part of the reason for this rebound in equity prices is that the interest rate environment changed dramatically early this year from 2018, a year in which we saw multiple short-term interest rate increases from the US Federal Reserve. Many believe that these interest rate increases were the root cause of the 2018 equity market correction.

In early 2019, in the wake of a significant equity market correction, falling long-term bond yields and a continued US-China trade dispute, the US Federal Reserve hinted strongly that they might be willing to start cutting interest rates sometime in the near future if the data warranted such action. This sentiment helped fuel the rebound in equity markets during the first half of 2019. Ultimately this culminated with US and Canadian equity markets reaching all-time highs, and the US Federal Reserve delivering a 0.25% interest rate cut in late July – its first rate cut in eleven years, and the first since the Great Recession.

AlphaDelta Canadian Focused Equity Class

2019 Semi-Annual Management Report of Fund Performance

The markets now expect even more US Federal Reserve short-term interest rate cuts later this year; however, this expectation has led to a recent global collapse in long-term bond yields. This collapse in long-term bond yields has introduced enhanced uncertainty and volatility to almost all markets (bonds, stocks and commodities) in almost all countries. In addition, we face a number of global risks in the medium term including a hard October Brexit deadline, an intensifying US-China trade war and a general global slowing of economic growth. Nevertheless, the sub-advisor to the Fund does not currently believe that the pre-conditions for a North American recession exist at the present time, and with both short and long-term interest rates having fallen and continuing to fall all over the world, the sub-advisor believes that Canadian and US equities continue represent reasonable valuation and opportunity in the context of these lower interest rates.

During the first quarter of 2019, SciVest Capital Management Inc. became the new sub-advisor to the Fund. Throughout the remainder of the first half of 2019, the new sub-advisor continued the Canadian focused equity mandate of the Fund centering on the high quality, growth stocks favoured by the previous sub-advisor. In August, the new sub-advisor expects to adopt a disciplined momentum focused stock selection methodology within the Fund, while continuing to maintain the Fund's traditional Canadian focused equity mandate. In addition, to reflect this change in stock selection methodology, the Fund's name will be changed from the AlphaDelta Canadian Focused Equity Class to the AlphaDelta Canadian Momentum Equity Class.

⁽²⁾ The portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Manager manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a portfolio turnover rate is in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gain in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between turnover rate and the performance of a portfolio.
